Thanks Hunter.

Devon and James,

I just flew to Seattle from Los Angeles and finished a meeting with former Ambassador to China, Gary Locke, who is on the board of Harves Investment Group. I am catching the red-eye home tonight, so I've been on the go. I'd love to catch up, and I will get you a paper this weekend outlining what we are looking do.

Harves Investment group is an independent US-based company out of DC (www.harvesinvestmentgroup.com). We are an extension to Harves Corporation in China (<http://www.harves.com.cn>), a tier 1 real estate development company. We also have a partnership with the China Development Bank. Both Harves Corporation in China and the China Development Bank have expressed real and immediate interest for us to broker a joint venture to build a SeaWorld Park(s) in China. On the China side, between Harves and the CDB, we would provide all of the capital and land for the project, as well as the construction of the Park. Seaworld Entertainment would hopefully be able to provide the brand, design, management and support for the park.

Please let me know how we can approach trying to put this together. We have all of the pieces in place in China to move on this. Would love to know more about the possibilities on the Seaworld end. My cell phone is (202)320-7239. Call me anytime.
